

Leading Network announces the launch of the International Network of Interim Manager Associations (INIMA)

Leading Network is delighted to announce the launch of INIMA: a cross-border organisation established by nine (9) of the leading national interim management professional bodies from across Europe. Having served their thousands of members for many years these leading national associations have come together in 2020 under the collaborative banner of INIMA to share experiences, best practices and competencies. The International Network of Interim Manager Associations becomes an authoritative voice to be heard for important issues of international Interim Management and comment on significant market trends.

INIMA's newly appointed chair and Leading Network board member, Jonathan Selby, commented: "There has been a fantastic level of cooperation in establishing our new organisation over the last few months and I am delighted to be able to announce our launch. Now is an excellent time to be able to build better international relationships and present a coherent view for the benefit of everyone involved in our profession."

Jonathan also pointed to the role of INIMA in supporting the aims and objectives of its partner organisations, saying: "All our partner organisations invest many resources in helping support the professional development of their members, securing improved credibility for them at a national level. INIMA wishes to extend this through its work but at an international level. This must be to the advantage of all stakeholders within the interim 'value add' chain."

Part of INIMA's remit will be to provide a pan-European annual view of the interim market, with the results made available for public dissemination.

Presentation

Benefits

Friendship

- Members of national associations can benefit from the INIMA friendship agreement when they operate in partner countries. Expatriate managers may use the network to find experts in fields such as tax legislation and social security.
- International events of interest are also shared to facilitate the exchange of ideas and communication between IM professionals working in partner countries.

Benefits

Professionalism

- The International Network of Interim Manager Associations is a platform to support the advancement of the IM profession. All the partner associations maintain professional standards by applying robust admission procedures and facilitating continuous learning of their members.
- Members of national associations may also post on the INIMA blog articles of interest to the IM community.

Benefits

Promotion

- INIMA performs annual surveys of practising Interim Managers in the major European countries, for the benefit of Interim Managers, private equities, companies and providers.
- The INIMA board has an authoritative voice on the important issues of European Interim Management and comments on significant market trends.
